
Hydrowave...

Posted by JP Bass - 2019/09/07 16:36

I've been using Hydrowave for 2 years now..

The thing flat out works..I feel it puts the fish in a better mood..Yesterday it was on crayfish on gravel all day..I vary the delay & sound depending on wind..My livewell was full of crayfish at end of the day..I've used it on power pattern with great success during a recent night tx & we caught em good..In the winter I like deep bait sound when I'm fishing 40ft & the bait is balled up..

It's not gonna create miracles over night,but I feel it's been another great tool that I am really starting to figure out..

For the guys who been thinking about it,& have any questions about it,feel free to ask..I'm by no means a product pusher & would never promote something if I feel I haven't given it 100% trial first..its no gimmic.I promise you..

JP first I would like to say thank you for always sharing, this is why we have a club. Second you should be sponsored by Hydrowave. Nothing wrong with endorsing a product that you believe in. Unfortunately they have this guy who endorses the Hydrowave already. Maybe you heard of him....his name is Kevin Van Dam. Even though I do not have a Hydrowave i did ha e a first hand experience with one. I was fishing a tournament at Eaat Twin Lakes with Dominic. Big D & Joe Riese were drop shotting about 100 yards away from my boat. As we approached we saw both Big D & Joe R. catching keeper bass. The closer we got to Big D's boat we started catching fish. At first they were rock bass and blue gills. As we got closer to Big D we started to catch fish. As we went by the bass started hitting our baits as well. We caught two keppers and as We went further away the bite died so we went back and started catching fish again. Big D then explained that he thought the Hydrowave was the stimulus.

Kenny I told him many many times after it was off and he didn't believe me..joe convinced himself it was the biosonix when it was just the location.
