You have to have one and you have to use it! Or you can borrow one.
Obviously it needs to be able to hold water!
A small leak is not a problem as long as it doesn't run dry quickly!

I answered your question so please answer mine...
What is the reason for this question?

Capitals were only used as per the proper use in beginning a sentence or a proper name, using all capitals would be rude as that indicates yelling. I did use bold letters because it just accentuates what I was saying without any disrespect meant. If you were offended I apologize! If you're breaking my balls that I can handle!
