Just FYI. Saw this on a store front and thought somebody might be interested.

Thanks Joe. It's just troublesome to see that Kenny McDonald would allow this kind of a tournament to take place when we as a club followed every rule that was put out there. In addition donating to the church across the street for allowing us to park our vehicles there for our weigh in. If one tournaments' allowed then a club like ours that followed the rules and regulations should be allowed to fish there as well. Just my opinion.

I thought about that but to my knowledge McDonald marine has nothing to do with it. This is a tackle store across the street from the lake. Actually just a bit down the block from Mahopac Marine. I could see a problem again with truck/trailer parking and Ken getting a bunch of calls.

That makes a lot more sense. The guys probably just doing as a promotion. After I reread it it seems as they want you to take a photo of your fish and then he'll have prizes. It's not an actual tournament where you weigh in. The problem with that is if I submitted a picture of the weight and I had a picture of a fish from a previous time how does that prove that that fish was caught during that period. Thanks again for submitting it Joe and clarifying. Looking forward to seeing you and Tim :laugh: on Saturday.

No problem at all. If I entered and had a good bass, I'd run it to the tackle store itself. There are some docks right across the street. Carry the fish in a weigh in bag and take the pic in the store. With the scale in front of the owner. Just in case questions arise about the photo.

If you ask me it sounds like big trouble and I will not be anywhere near Mahopac during that debacle. With no weigh in it sounds like it's a bit scandalous to me in other words...fuck that shit!

:laugh: :woohoo: :laugh: :huh: :huh: :dry:

Yeah right and they're all honesty based over a 2 day period? With photos and no weigh in?

I say that's bullshit!

No issues, yeah right!
