Can't wait to go to Candlewood

Atlantic Bass Anglers had their season open at Candlewood last weekend. They fished for 2 days. Top weight for the tourney was 32 lbs. That is 10 fish each for the partners. One thing to note Pat X caught 2 of the 3 lunkers. I included a picture of the 8 pounder. Can't wait for next Friday.

Lunkers

Pat Xiques 8 lb.,5 oz largemouth

Pat Xiques 5 lb.,1 oz largemouth

Joe Arico 5 lb.,0 oz smallmouth

Iwas taling to Sean JR last night (Pats partner) and he said they new it was a big fish but not how big. They did not see it until it was right at the net. A quick scoop and it was in the boat . A few seconds of silence and then a big holy shit. Most of the fish caught at this tx were the 2 lb cookie cutter smallmouth. So we should see a big change in that with the big girls moving up. Most people caught 25 to 30 thirty fish a day. This is going to be a good one guys . Friday will not get here soon enough. Mike

Guys...I think we might need to figure mtg somewhere else. The Throgs neck is a fucking disaster. It took over 45 minutes to get to the toll on Saturday. The Whitestone would be better. Partners should talk to boaters to find another location.

I was with you in that traffic, and i know it sucks, the only thing is it would be a lot harder to get parking off the exit ramp when you come off the whitestone bridge than it is coming off the clearview, making it much harder to drop off your non boater and hop right back on the highway in the direction you need to go like you do at the clearview. It's not that bad every Saturday after every tournament. The traffic coming across the whitestone bridge is no picnic either. That's New York City traffic. There really is not as much parking off the whitesone expressway like there is at the clearview and northern blvd. I don't know if you know that area Mike, but from what I seen last time I was there was the big shopping center like target and BJ's and the DMV is off the Expressway right after the bridge, any further down the Whitestone Expressway and you will hit college point blvd and the Citi field area. You can't park in the parking lots of Target and toys R us all day either. I tried that when I went to the DMV to avoid paying to park in their lot and I was unable to leave my car there. I really don't want to be dropped off to a car that has been towed. If you know of a good and safe place to park all day and sometimes 2 days when we stay over in CT for a night, let me know and I will be more than happy to park there.

I sat in that traffic on Thursday on my way back from Boston. That right lane looks like it will be closed for a while.

Dom,

You are coming from Brooklyn right? If it helps I am leaving from Queens. You can jump in with me and leave your car in my garage.
