
Getting Ready For The 2012 Season

Posted by Kenny - 2012/03/20 05:27

I am busy getting several maintenance items taken care of on my boat and trailer. This is the time to make sure your rig is road and water ready!

The things to check, repair and do some maintenance on are;

Trailer wheel bearings.

Trailer tires.

Trailer brakes.

Trailer lights.

Trailer bunks.

Trailer nuts and bolts. (Joe Innella needs to pay attention to this one!)

Trailer springs.

On your boat check and repair or replace;

Batteries.

Electrical systems.

Livewell pumps and plumbing.

Bilge pumps.

Lower Unit grease.

Grease engine pivots.

Change fuel filter/water separator.

Spark plugs.

And of course any items that may have given you previous problems.

We want everyone to have a great, safe and trouble free season! :)

Dont forget to check bolts on engine and ALL screws! Trolling motors get bounced around and have a habit of coming loose.

Hollywood has help with his stuff!

Hey Joe how many bolts are going to break on your trailer this year? Do your trailer lights work as I recall you were having issues with that stuff?

I think you should do some maintenance and not worry about Hollywood he has divine help now! :laugh: :laugh: :laugh:
