
St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by JP Bass - 2017/09/21 19:05

6'9" med.lite extra fast..

I cant stand conventional for drop shot so this gotta go..light use...good condition

$60 bucs its yours...

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by Hooked Solid - 2018/01/22 05:39

Still have this...?

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by JP Bass - 2018/01/22 12:07

Yes..

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by Bassburn - 2018/01/22 12:51

great rod, too bad it's not a spin

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by Hooked Solid - 2018/01/22 20:25

would it have other technique uses other than drop shot?

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by JP Bass - 2018/01/23 04:38

I prefer spinning over conventional for my light action baits..

I was getting em good on the spybait 1 day & I tried this rod & could not keep em butttoned..went back to spinning that day..

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by Big D - 2018/01/23 06:21

Love spybaits..but they are hard to keep them hooked..it took me a while but I finally found out how to keep them hooked

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by JP Bass - 2018/01/23 12:00

Only time I ever was able to not keep em butttoned is when I tried this Conventional..never had issues before or after I tried..

Use a medium extra fast spinning rod with 8# super slick & 6# seagar leader..they stay buttoned every time

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by JP Bass - 2018/01/23 12:50

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by Big D - 2018/02/06 17:29

Did You Still Have

=====

Re:St.croix avid conventional drop shot

Posted by JP Bass - 2018/02/07 06:29

Yes sir..

Only place I have it listed..if I dont sell it, it can stay next to the other rods i no longer use

=====