
Alliance Schedule conflicts w/ Candlewood Tourney

Posted by Joe - 2009/03/26 21:13

The Alliance Open schedule came out today. There are only 2 tournaments besides the Challenge Cup. They are; Spring Champs May 8th Candlewood 7-3 & Fall Champs Nov. 21st Candlewood 8-3
It sucks because I like fishing the Alliance and the date is the same as our tournament on Candy. I guess we will have company.

Joe, I will ask Ray if the Alliance can move a week forward. I don't know if it will help but I will give it a try.

It might as I know Mike L., Big "D", Adoni and I (possibly Nick) would be 4-5 extra boats for the tourney.

Just a question and it may be a silly one at that, but,..... is it maybe a possiblity to fish both at the same time and to weigh fish at both scales. Just curious.

No way that will work as we allow 10 fish for 2 men and in the Alliance it is 5 for the boat!:dry:

Just as an update to this, I spoke with Ray today and if it is at all possible (permit wise) he is going for 1 week before or 1 week after May 8th. If this gets done I hope Joe was accurate with the additional boats that are wanting to fish this from Outcast because that is what I told Ray!
We will see!

As soon as I know I will let everyone know! :huh: :dry:

During the club meetings both Big D and Mike L. told me that they were interested in fishing the Alliance this year. As for Nick, he likes the Alliance but last year could not get the days off. That is why I said I was not sure about him. As for me and Roberto we are in, Adoni needs a partner and he is in. I also e-mailed Ray about the situation and forwarded the message to Kenny.

Please keep updated posts if possible as to who is fishing and who is not. I am interested if my schedule permits.

Mike, I guess if the date does change then we can consider it. Of course I will make sure everyone has the updates as soon as they are available.

I can't wait to get out and go fishing! :woohoo: :woohoo: :dry:

Just heard from Ray Scully. He said that they can not change the date on the May 8th Alliance Tournament. I'm bummed.....not only do I not get to fish the Alliance Tourney but we are going to have company on the Lake and at the ramp, on a Friday.
